SENATE BALKS AT INCREASED INCOME TAXES

Corporation Tax Will Be Raised How- ever

Washington, May 21.—(AP)—Whipping all but one member into line, the Senate finance committee reached agreement on a compromise plan for increasing corporation taxes but scuttled a proposal at the loss of considerable revenue, for boosting the normal income tax rate.

Moving along swiftly after days of delay, the committee thus reached accord on the vital part of the revenue bill.

The compromise would call for a flat 18 per cent tax on corporation income, a flat 7 per cent on income withheld from distribution, exemption of $1,000 from taxation for corporations making no more than $20,000 a year, and retention of the present capital stock and excess profits taxes.

Progress Reported.
Smiling broadly, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) said the committee had made "very good progress" and he expected it to be able to report out a bill early next week.

So greatly at odds was the committee that some members at one time threatened to leave the committee chamber.

One vote divided the members 11 to 8.

Harrison said the compromise corporation tax plan would raise "somewhere over $500,000,000" and said the treasury had been asked to submit exact estimates as to the yield.

The indication was it would fall considerably short of the $623,000,000 of permanent revenue sought by President Roosevelt to meet the cost of the new farm program and prepayment of the bonus. Harrison had no definite reply when he was asked where the committee would get the remainder of the money.

Strikes at Surpluses.
The committee, he said, also agreed to strengthen a section of existing law providing for penalty taxes on corporations which build up "unreasonable surpluses."

Also approved was an amendment to permit insurance to be taken out, payable to the government, for meeting estate taxes. The amount of the policy would not be counted in the estate unless it was greater than the estate tax.

Reverting to the new corporation tax plan, Harrison said that it was not as far-reaching as the bill passed by the House, but would compel the distribution of corporate surpluses and therefore would "carry out suggestions of the president."

The plan would make dividends subject to the present normal income tax of 4 per cent, but the committee rejected suggestions for boosting the latter to 5 per cent.

The compromise, Harrison said, was approved by an 18 to 1 vote. He told reporters the committee "had a great deal of controversy at first" during the morning session, involving a "good deal of cross fire."

Union Blames High Court for Closing of Couple of Mines

Pittsburgh, May 21.—(AP)—Union leaders blamed the shutdown of at least two coal mines today on the Supreme Court's invalidation of the Guffey act while western Pennsylvania operators planned a special meeting for next week to discuss their problems.

P. T. Fagan, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared the Duquesne and Burgettstown coal companies notified their 450 employees they were shutting down operations.

Fagan said: "The men were told the concerns had been operating at a loss in hopes the high court would approve the act and stabilize price conditions in the industry."

Y., a $759,680 contract for the purchase of 40 scout observation airplanes and their parts. The planes are similar to the 135 machines delivered to the fleet under a contract with the same company last year.

HINDENBURG IS HEADED TOWARD HOME LAST EVE

Lakehurst, N. J., May 21.—(AP)—The dirigible Hindenburg headed back across the Atlantic today, its skipper hopeful that the winds which retarded its westward flight would speed it toward Germany.

The trip will complete the 2nd of ten round trips contemplated for the Zeppelin between Germany and the United States this summer. Before its scheduled return here June 22, however, the airship will make its second South Atlantic crossing to Rio de Janeiro.

Aboard were 51 passengers, one more than the giant dirigible's normal capacity, and a two-and-one-quarter ton racing plane belonging to James H. (Jimmy) Haizlip, St. Louis speed pilot, who was aboard with his wife and son.

Twenty minutes after the last busload of passengers went aboard, the zeppelin's commander, Capt. Ernst Lehmann, gave orders to "up ship." Taking off at 9:05 P. M. (CST) the Hindenburg cruised leisurely over New York, then turned eastward to the sea.

Tulsa, Okla., May 21.—(AP)—E. E. Hanson, president of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, peered through the closed window of an automobile parked in the sun and saw a half-conscious fox terrier. Unable to open a door, he broke a window, revived the dog with cold water and fresh air, and swore out a complaint against the owner.

Representative Zioncheck and Bride Will Have to Seek Apart- ment Without Usual References

Washington, May 21.—(AP)—Representative Zioncheck and his bride must go apartment hunting when they return from their Virgin Islands honeymoon trip.

Developments today indicated the young automobilist from Washington state will get no references from Mrs. Benjamin J. Young, his former landlady, when he begins to answer classified ads.

For yesterday Mrs. Young wept as she looked over the apartment she leased to Zioncheck last Christmas Eve. (That was just a week before he took over an apartment house switchboard, rang all the bells, and was arrested.) Mrs. Young, a magazine writer,

FRAUD CHARGES ARE DENIED BY DOC TOWNSEND

Refuses to Concede That "Townsendgram" Appeal Constituted Fraud

Washington, May 21.—(AP)—An assertion, immediately denied that the Townsend old age pension organization used the mails to defraud was made today before a house investigating committee.

James R. Sullivan, committee counsel, declared that $11,490 was raised for a "congressional fund" by an appeal to Townsend clubs sent through the mails in the form of "Townsendgrams."

"Did you make any effort to stop these contributions?" Sullivan asked Dr. P. E. Townsend after reading a "Townsendgram" appeal for funds.

"No," Dr. Townsend replied. "We were after contributions."

"Did you do anything to stop this use of the mails to defraud?" snapped Sullivan.

"I don't concede it was use of the mails to defraud," said Dr. Townsend.

Sullivan contended the "Townsendgrams" contained "fraudulent statements," as a basis for the plea for money.

Dr. Townsend, founder of the movement who was on the stand for the third day, denied knowledge of the appeal "until after it was out."

Sullivan said that prior to the "Townsendgram" appeal, the organization raised $23,490 to defray expenses of seven men brought to Washington in January, 1935, to draft the McGroarty bill, embodying a form of the Townsend plan, and work for its passage.

Clements Handled Money.
Dr. Townsend disclaimed knowledge of Sullivan's assertion that only $1,804 of the $23,490 was used before the "Townsendgram" appeal was made for additional funds.

The witness explained he had little or nothing to do with the raising of money and his province was the "philosophical and economic" aspect of the movement.

He said Robert E. Clements, former national secretary and co-founder, and others in the business office handled the financial end of the program.

The bus leaving here at 2:55 P. M. arrives at Des Moines at 11:10 P. M. and according to the new schedule will leave that city at 11:45 P. M. for Omaha arriving there at 3:35 A. M. the following day.

Is Back -- Alive

McAlester, Okla., May 21.—(AP)—Claude Beavers was brought back alive today to the state penitentiary where he engineered a savage-like break in which a foreman was killed and a guard wounded.

The convict leader, who boasted he never would be taken alive, surrendered without a show of resistance early today in the Jack Fork mountains 30 miles southeast of here.

The capture left only two of the eight original fugitives at large. Warden Roy W. Kenny called in all possumen, saying he was convinced the other two convicts, Julius Bannan and A. C. McArthur, were not in this section.

Recovered Purse

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—On the eighth floor of the building where she worked, a thief snatched the purse of Miss Mary Alice Jones, a Sunday school worker. The purse contained $700 of which she had saved for a trip to the world Sunday school convention at Oslo, Norway.

She chased the thief to the seventh floor, where she tore off his coat. On the fourth floor the thief, down to his trousers, gasped: "Lady, I dropped the purse on the seventh floor."

Miss Jones, desisting, returned to the seventh floor. The purse was there.

Police were called to the Aschenbrenner saloon on First street last evening at 7:45 where a disturbance was reported and were requested to remove Kline from the place. The prisoner resented the action and gave the officers plenty of exercise between the saloon and the cell block in the city hall before he could be locked up, which required reinforcements. Kline is reported to be on parole out of the county court after serving a lengthy jail sentence last winter.

$25,471,000 SET ASIDE FOR RIVER WORK NEXT YEAR

Washington, May 21.—(AP)—The army engineers have allotted $25,471,000 for work on the upper Mississippi river in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Of that amount, $23,900,000 will be used to continue the nine-foot canalization program and the remaining $1,571,000 for maintenance. The allotment conformed closely to earlier estimates by the army engineers of the amount needed for the program.

Details of the proposed new work on the upper Mississippi were not announced, but the engineers have indicated it would affect principally the middle section. Engineers estimated approximately $30,000,000 more would be required to complete the upper Mississippi canalization.

Other allocations by the engineers from their appropriation for next year include:

Mississippi river from the Ohio to the Missouri, $500,000 for new work and $2,025,000 for maintenance.

Examinations and surveys, St. Louis district, $45,000.

COUSIN OF FDR ACCUSES RFC OF ABETTING THEFT

Attacks Reconstruction Corp. for Withholding Pledged Loan

Washington, May 21.—(AP)—Philip J. Roosevelt, a distant cousin of the President, today accused the Reconstruction corporation of "abetting the robbery" of investors in the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway.

As chairman of a bondholders' committee seeking reorganization of the railroad, Roosevelt testified before a Senate interstate commerce subcommittee on the Benson resolution asking Senate investigation of a proposal to sell and dismember the M. & S. L.

Roosevelt told the committee dismantling of the road would throw a $4,200,000 payroll on relief and destroy the road's so-called "Peoria gateway" to the southwest.

He contended the road would continue to operate as a unit, through reorganization and under present "efficient management and gross revenue."

Loan Was Assured.
"I believe we are going to have boom years again, and if so, it is quite within the bounds of possibility that the road may earn $3,000,000 a year for return to investors," he said.

Roosevelt, a member of the firm of Roosevelt & Son, said the RFC had assured the bondholders committee, in August, 1934, that it would approve a loan of $4,750,000 for reorganization, subject to approval of the court and the interstate commerce commission.

With plans for reorganization under way, Roosevelt said, he received a letter a few weeks later from Chairman Jesse Jones, withdrawing the offer and suggesting sale to a group of northwest carriers.

"I am not advised what changed the minds of the RFC chairman," Roosevelt said. "If it had not been changed the road would have been reorganized."

Suit Filed Against Relief Family For Misrepresentation

East St. Louis, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—Attorney-General Otto Kerner was revealed today to have filed a suit in the city court to recover $814 he alleged Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mutz fraudulently obtained from the St. Clair county emergency relief commission by representing themselves as destitute although they had a substantial savings account.

The suit, filed yesterday, was suppressed to permit the serving of an attachment on an East St. Louis bank, where it was reported Mrs. Mutz had a savings account balance of $1,581.

George M. Curry, county relief administrator, said investigation showed Mrs. Mutz had been employed in a cafeteria and one of her two grown sons had worked periodically from Jan. 5, 1933, to last May 20, while the relief payments were being made.

The suit was the first to recover funds alleged to have been obtained fraudulently, although a number of persons have been prosecuted in criminal cases in the county for making false claims.

Three Buildings on Farm South of Ash- ton Burn Wednesday

Fire of unknown origin, which was discovered at about 3 P. M. Wednesday, destroyed a large barn, a corn crib and a third smaller building on the Arthur Gehant farm five miles south of Ashton, which is tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moye.

Machinery valued at hundreds of dollars, stored in the barn, grain, hay and straw burned in the blaze, which was discovered by a son of Mr. and Mrs. Moye. The Ashton fire department was called, and experienced difficulty in preventing the flames from spreading to the farm residence and a nearby garage. Loss to the buildings is covered by insurance.

Man of Numerous Aliases Recognized

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—Sgt. Michael Ahern recognized the prisoner and frowned. "You're Joseph Ondreykowitz, alias Mziak, alias Ondreykowitz, alias Andrekovitz, alias Ondrekowitz, alias Ondrykowitz, what's the name this time?" he demanded.

"Just put me down as Frank Ozemich," said the prisoner, a paroled convict arrested with a kit of burglar tools in his possession.

"His aliases," sighed Sgt. Ahern, "are always jawbreakers."

Murder Warrant Issued for Rockford Man Held in Ogle County's Jail Today

Letter He Wrote to Widow Told of 'Last Trip'

BULLETIN
Oregon, May 21.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon State's Attorney Crowell and his assistant Judge William Emerson announced that Guy Tallmadge had confessed to the murder of his wife, Bessie, on a lonely road east of Oregon Tuesday night.

He admitted, according to the officials, planning his wife's murder that he might marry a Rock Island widow, and said he got Mrs. Tallmadge out of the car on a pretext and then shot her in the back of the head.

At Tallmadge's request the Birch woman was taken to his cell this afternoon to see him.

The dealer from whom he bought the murder gun is being brought from Rockford to identify him.

A warrant charging Guy M. Tallmadge of Rockford with the death of his wife, Bessie, cousin of L. E. Etnyre and sister-in-law of Ira Ware of Dixon, was issued today in Oregon as Ogle county officers asserted an attractive widow told them Tallmadge planned to marry her and settle on a chicken farm near Rockford, he recently purchased.

Mrs. Tallmadge was found fatally wounded at a lonely road intersection Tuesday night. Tallmadge told police she was shot by a robber.

Detective Wilbur Balmer of the Rockford police said a pawn shop operator there had identified newspaper photographs of Tallmadge as the man who purchased a pistol April 22, then returned May 11 and exchanged it for another type.

The warrant naming Tallmadge was issued by Justice of the Peace William Ziegenfuss of Oregon, but was not served immediately as Tallmadge was undergoing a "lie detector" examination.

Woman Tells Plans

From Mrs. Frances Birch, 30, who was brought here today from Rock Island, Ill., State's Attorney S. Donald Crowell said he obtained a story of the 55-year-old embalmer's plans to divorce Mrs. the mother of a 12-year-old daughter the mother of a 12-year-old daughter.

Crowell said a letter written on Monday by Tallmadge to Mrs. Birch told of the planned trip on Tuesday night "to get some rent money." It was on that ride that

Deaths Decrease

Washington, May 21.—(AP)—A reduction of 450 in the number of deaths from automobile accidents in the first 20 weeks of this year as compared with that period last year was reported by the census bureau today for 86 major cities.

The total so far this year in these cities was 2,810 against 3,260 last year. For the week ended May 16, deaths totaled 143 compared with 165 in the previous week and 150 in the same week last year. Forty-four of the 86 cities reported no fatalities last week.

Admitted Situation

The "other woman," Tallmadge was quoted as saying, worked in a Rockford drug store. Tallmadge

Rock Island Widow Says He Planned to Marry Her

Rock Island, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Birch, 30, of Rock Island, was detained for questioning by Oregon, Ill., authorities today while Guy Tallmadge, Rockford undertaker's assistant, was being questioned in connection with the death of his wife.

Mrs. Birch told the Oregon sheriff and state's attorney that she and Tallmadge had planned to be married after Tallmadge received a divorce, according to Detective William Wilkens of Rock Island, who accompanied the Oregon officers to Mrs. Birch's home at 4 A. M. today.

Mrs. Birch was questioned at length in the office of the Rock Island chief of police and then was hurried to Oregon where in intense investigation of the killing of Mrs. Tallmadge is in progress.

Planned Wedding

Mrs. Birch lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo W. Olson until two months ago, where, according to Wilkens, she said she engaged in a flirtation with Tallmadge in a drug store where she was employed. Last Monday she returned to Rock Island, because of illness and she told Wilkens and Oregon officers that she had received a letter from Tallmadge which said he intended to come to Rock Island Sunday and tell her wedding.

Parents of the plans for their marriage, Mrs. Birch, Wilkens said, told the officers that Tallmadge gave her a diamond ring May 12 and that "she loved him." She said, according to Wilkens, that they planned to live on a chicken farm near Oregon after their marriage.

Told Her of Trouble.
Mrs. Birch said Tallmadge had told her of trouble with his wife and had said that "she was jealous," Wilkens reported. "I know nothing about the shooting and I don't know why he would do a thing like that," she said, Wilkens related.

Mrs. Birch's husband is dead. She has a 5-year-old daughter who lives with the grandparents.

Mrs. Tallmadge, 54, was slain. "I told her it would be my last trip," Crowell quoted Tallmadge as saying in the letter. "I was caught up the way things had went the last four or five years and I was going to pull out."

Had Ring Laid Away

The letter was postmarked Rockford and began, "My Dear Friend," Crowell said. He said Mrs. Birch told him that Tallmadge gave her a $400 diamond ring, although he had known her but two months, and that he told her he had a wedding ring to match laid aside in a Rockford jewelry store.

Detective Balmer said the pawn shop operator told him the man who got the guns gave the name of Ray Milton and his address as Freeport, Ill. The second gun was of a Spanish type, Balmer said.

Sheriff Delos Blanchard swore out the warrant after he said Tallmadge made damaging admissions while undergoing the lie detector test. He said Tallmadge, bespectacled and bald, clung to his story that a shabby stranger had waylaid him and his wife and then shot Mrs. Tallmadge to death.

Crowell issued a statement in which he quoted from the answers he said were given by Tallmadge when asked about Mrs. Birch.

The "other woman," Tallmadge was quoted as saying, worked in a Rockford drug store. Tallmadge admitted, according to the officials, planning his wife's murder that he might marry a Rock Island widow, and said he got Mrs. Tallmadge out of the car on a pretext and then shot her in the back of the head.

At Tallmadge's request the Birch woman was taken to his cell this afternoon to see him.

The dealer from whom he bought the murder gun is being brought from Rockford to identify him.

Etnyre and sister-in-law of Ira Ware of Dixon, was issued today in Oregon as Ogle county officers asserted an attractive widow told them Tallmadge planned to marry her and settle on a chicken farm near Rockford, he recently purchased.

The warrant naming Tallmadge was issued by Justice of the Peace William Ziegenfuss of Oregon, but was not served immediately as Tallmadge was undergoing a "lie detector" examination.

Re-enacted His Ver- sion of Crime for Officers

admitted, Crowell said, that he occasionally met her and drove her to her work and that he met her frequently in a Chinese laundry near his place of business.

After she left Rockford for a visit in Rock Island, Tallmadge said, he wrote to her and received a reply.

Q. Was nothing said about a diamond ring?

A. I wouldn't say whether there was or wasn't.

Q. That would refer to a diamond ring you gave Frances as a present?

A. Yes.

Q. You never told your wife about that?

A. No.

Q. How much did you pay for it?

A. Fifty dollars.

Q. Mrs. Birch told Crowell it was a $400 ring.

Q. Why didn't you tell your wife?

A. I should say, gentlemen, that when we first married we both spoke of divorce as something sensible if circumstances warrant. Investigators said they had a possible clue in a lipstick smeared cigarette butt found in the back seat of Tallmadge's car. Mrs. Tallmadge, they said, did not smoke.

Gun, Bullet Not Found

Neither the gun used in the killing nor the bullet which killed Mrs. Tallmadge has been found.

Attorney Francis Burchell of Oregon, a relative by marriage of Mrs. Tallmadge, said Tallmadge told him last night that one of the purposes of the fatal trip had been a visit to Burchell. He was not home when they called, he said.

"The Tallmadges hadn't been 'hitting it up' so well," said Burchell, "and Tallmadge said they intended to see if I couldn't help them patch things up."

"He said they figured things couldn't go on the way they were and that they wanted either to get their differences straightened out or call the marriage off."

Burchell declined to go into details concerning the difficulties. He said he had been retained "for the time being" to represent Tallmadge.

Tallmadge had told officials a gunman stopped their car, robbed him of $2 and some change, stripped rings from his wife's fingers and then shot her in the back of the head as she fled screaming to preclude the robber's attempt to force her into his automobile.

Democrats Caucus on Anti-Lynch Bill

Washington, May 21—(AP)—A Democratic house caucus was called today for tomorrow night to discuss anti-lynching legislation. The party meeting was forced by a petition signed by 27 members—two more than necessary.
Several bills to provide federal penalties in connection with lynchings are pending before the house judiciary committee. Rep. Ford (D-Calif.), who started the caucus movement with Rep. Gavagan (D-NY), said the specific objective of the meeting was "to try to influence the committee to bring a bill out."
Rep. Bankhead (D-Ala) and other house leaders have expressed doubt that any action would be had this session on anti-lynching legislation.

Zorsky Had Narrow Escape from Death

"Sensational Zorsky", the feature free act of the Elks Jubilee, which is presented this week at the show lot at Hess' corners, west of the city on the Lincoln Highway, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury last week at Ziegler, Ill., it was revealed by show attaches today. One of his stunts is to balance himself on a board placed on the backs of two chairs which are balanced on the edge of his pedestal. At Ziegler last Tuesday evening the lights suddenly went out, leaving him in darkness, and only his rare presence of mind and his ability to retain his balance saved him from a fall of 75 feet. Zorsky made the statement that it was the closest call he had had in 20 years he has been a high pedestal performer.

Canvassing Board Considering Four House Contests

Springfield, Ill., May 21—(AP)—The state canvassing board today began consideration of four House contests filed following the April 14 primary election.
The contests involve the eighth senatorial district nomination for representative and the Republican nominations in the 23rd, 25th and 47th districts. In each case the senatorial nominating committee filed orders with county clerks that both one and two candidates be nominated.
The board, which includes Governor Horner, Treasurer John Stelle and Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, announced that present plans do not call for consideration of the contest of Barrett O'Hara of Chicago, who sought the nomination for congressman-at-large.
"FIVE DAYS" SAID JUDGE
Chicago, May 21—(AP)—William Jankowski admitted he broke into a saloon but he told Judge Matthew Hartigan he did it only because he needed the money to buy proper church communion garments for his ten year old son.
"You weren't thinking of your son, you were thinking of yourself," Judge Hartigan declared. "Five days in jail."

Mrs. E. B. Ryan of this city submits to The Telegraph the following account of the wedding of her sister, Miss Beulah Miller, which appeared in the Sunday Kansas City Star, May 3rd. The bride has many friends in this city, where she is most popular.

The article reads:

Miss Beulah Miller, daughter of Mr. Walter S. Miller of Dixon, Ill., and Mr. John Charles Schwindler son of Mrs. J. H. Schwindler of Kansas City, were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the parlor of the Country Club Christian church. Dr. George Hamilton Combs read the service before a large bay window banked with palms and ferns and lighted with white tapers in tall standards. Before the ceremony Miss Florence Jacobs sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The bride wore a gown of blue lace, fashioned in princess style, buttoned down the back, with long sleeves. She wore a shoulder tip veil of a delicate blue tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Miss Edna Phipps, who attended the bride as maid of honor, wore a gown of dusky pink lace with lilac accessories. She carried a bouquet of Briarcliff roses. Little Barbara Mae Johnson, the flower girl, wore a floor length frock of yellow brocade and carried a basket of rose petals. Mr. Robert Schwindler acted as best man for his brother.

Says Illinois is Fortunate in Curb of Radical Schools

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—Press relations, publicity and propaganda were discussed from the floor today as the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs prepared to end its 42nd annual convention.

Mrs. Fred Lufkin, Elgin, retiring press chairman and editor of the Federation News, monthly publication, introduced Joseph F. Wright of the University of Illinois.

"Newspapers of Illinois have space only for real news," said Wright, the university's public relations counselor and member of the School of Journalism faculty. "They can print only that which will interest the larger part of their readers."

"If what you wish them to print doesn't meet their news standards, buy advertising space to tell your story—or else forget it."

"None of you," he continued, "would walk into a store and ask a merchant to give you a pair of shoes. Why, then, should you expect a publisher to give you his only stock in trade—white space—unless by so doing he can render service to his readers?"

"He has too many demands for his limited columns to chronicle the trivial, but when you have real news he welcomes you with open arms."

Mrs. Adaline Wright Macauley, Menomonee, Wis., told the delegates that Illinois was "fortunate" in that "radical tendencies in the University of Illinois were kept in check."

"I know you read of radical teachings at Northwestern University and the University of Chicago—but not at the state university."

A WIFE'S PRAYER

By Helen Welshimer

THERE were so many crowded tasks
To bruise my worried mind,
That for a little while, dear one,
I wasn't very kind.

MY patience faltered when you came
To say a job was filled,
That you had wanted long—so long—
And you, your brave heart chilled.

BY lack of sympathy you sought,
Went quietly away—
God, may he have a job somewhere
When he comes home today!

HOLDING OUT FALSE HOPES

In one of his addresses President Roosevelt condemned those who hold out false hopes to people. He probably had in mind the Townsend plan. But one false hope after another has been held out to classes of persons by the president himself. These hopes have been that they would be raised up at the cost of other persons.

Another of these hopes has been dashed. The Guffey bill has been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. Certainly those who have felt that the supreme court has the wrong view of things are not going to find fault with it for this ruling. This was the bill that President Roosevelt urged upon the committee chairman, "regardless of doubts of its constitutionality, however reasonable."

Why does the president do those things? He knows that the line of decisions prior to the New Deal is that the congress has no such power. He knows the line of decisions since the New Deal pressure was put on congress and the court, is that congress has no such power over things that belong to the states.

Although the points that were held to be basic by the majority of the court were the same ones that caused a unanimous court to hold void the NRA enactment, three judges who viewed the NRA as invalid were able to find something to uphold the Guffey act.

Franklin Roosevelt, who insisted upon repeating his oath to uphold the constitution instead of merely affirming it, making more of a show of taking the oath than other presidents, urged that congress pass this law regardless of doubts as to its constitutionality. He knew,
or ought to have known, that unless the court reversed
a long line of decisions, covering decades, it was unconstitutional and so would be held.

How much more of this folly is in store for us? How much more of this holding forth of false hopes to unfortunate and trusting people is ahead of us? How many more blind alleys has Rex Tugwell got for the president?

THE PUBLIC BE INFORMED

The old question of just how much the public is entitled to know about the public's business has at last caught up with the right answer in Michigan.

The answer came decisively from Gov. Frank D.
Fitzgerald after the Michigan State Prison Commission
decided to bar newspapermen from its sessions.

Governor Fitzgerald sat on that plan with a thump.
He held that, in effect, newspapermen are liaison officers between the public and its government and that, therefore, they must be admitted to all meetings of all state commissions.

There is no excuse for conducting any of the state's business in the dark, Fitzgerald pointed out.

Thus the Michigan governor sounded the keynote of good government. The salutary effect of conducting all public business where it should be conducted, in public, cannot be overestimated.

MODEL PRISON PLAN

Kentucky may in time become the "model prison"
state, if plans approved by federal and state officials are carried out successfully.

A $14,000,000, 10-year program is contemplated,
to provide for an entirely new approach to the whole vital problem of prisons and charitable institutions.
The keystone of the project would be rehabilitation.
Treatment of each prisoner would be prescribed with a view to "salvaging" the individual for society.

The vast project encompasses plans to classify inmates as dangerous, less dangerous, and tractable.
Separate wards would be provided for each class, and useful work found for those eligible.

The plan, Kentucky officials claim, is a major step away from the existing "universities of crime." It will be interesting to see just how it works out.

POPULAR OPERA

New York's Metropolitan Opera Company puts on a popular-priced season and enjoys a sell-out. Presenting opera without benefit of top hats, tail coats, or ermine cloaks, at prices which the ordinary mortal can afford, is something new for the august Metropolitan;
but apparently it pays.

And it occurs to us that the salvation of grand opera in America might be founded along just such lines.

Opera has been almost wholly an artificial growth in this country. The ordinary mortal passes it by with serene unconcern. And why? Chiefly, we suspect, because "society" has made opera a three-ring circus of its own.

It has stamped it as a boiled-shirt affair which one attends, not so much for the sake of listening to good music and enjoying a good dramatic spectacle, as to display one's fine clothes and one's lofty social standing.

The ordinary American is not tone-deaf. Give him opera without the hifalutin' trimmings and he might support it very enthusiastically.

CRIME ON THE RUN

It is getting almost tedious, this business of recording the triumphs of the G-men. Karpis, Campbell, Mahan, and now Robinson; the last kidnapping case is closed, and some of the most brilliant police work performed in any country on earth has been completed.

The impressive thing about the performance is the grim certainty of the federal men's pursuit. It is this,

rather than the severity of the punishment handed out,
that can be relied upon to check crime.

Once it becomes known that major crime will certainly be avenged sooner or later—that the law will stay relentlessly on the trail for years, if need be, giving up only when the quarry is behind the bars—then you are likely to see the much talked-of "lawlessness"
in America vanish like morning mists beneath a hot sun.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Much to the Tinymites surprise,
the pelican just winked his eyes
and started talking to them. "Say,
what must I do?" asked he.

"The call I just heard means, I guess, that somebody is in distress.
The old prospector's taught me to obey such calls, you see."

"If for you I can lend a hand, I'll do my best, please understand." Then Scouty said, "Well, friendly bird, we all need aid,
right now."

"We don't know where we're heading for, but through the air
we wish to soar. We're hoping you will help us work out such a trip, somehow."

"You see the seat that's on the ground? Well, we have made it safe and sound. The six of us will sit in it. Then you can sail away."

"Fly north or south or east or west. We know you'll do your very best to help us have some real excitement. Well, what do you say?"

The funny bird eyed everyone
and said, "You may think 'twill

be fun to lift you all and take you on a journey through the sky."

"I'm pretty strong, I will admit, but I don't think I'm up to it.
However, climb aboard the seat.
At least, tois, I can try."

The Tinies scrambled 'round a bit till each one had a place to sit. Then Copy cried, "We're ready, Gee, please do not tip this seat."

"We'll hang on good and tight,
no doubt, but even so, we might slip out. We will appreciate it if you're a bit discreet."

The bird soon grabbed hold of the rope exclaiming, "Here we go, I hope." He flapped his wings and tried to rise, but 'twas to no avail.

He then said, "Please don't think I'd shirk, but honestly this plan won't work. We must try something else, if through the air
you wish to sail."

WISCONSIN HAS ABROGATED ITS TRUCK TREATY

Springfield, Ill., May 21—(AP)—
Secretary of State Edward J.
Hughes' office announced today
that the reciprocal agreement with Wisconsin on licenses for trucks-for-hire had been abrogated
by the action of Wisconsin officials.

As a result, it was stated, 16
Wisconsin trucks have been stopped in Illinois and forced to pay Illinois fees. The same procedure, Hughes' office said, was true of Illinois trucks in Wisconsin.

It was explained that the two states had an agreement, by virtue of a temporary injunction granted Wisconsin truck operators against their state government preventing it from collecting fees on Illinois trucks. On the basis of this, Wisconsin trucks were permitted to operate in Illinois without paying additional fees.

The injunction was dissolved
however, the office said, and last week Wisconsin began stopping Illinois trucks and collecting fees.

"It is a case of treating Wisconsin trucks in our state exactly as Wisconsin treats Illinois trucks," said an official of the automobile division of the secretary's department.

Farmers Opposed to Anti-Price Dis- crimination Laws

Washington, May 21—(AP)—Opposition to anti-price discrimination legislation proposed by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, and Representative Pat-man (D-Tex.) was expressed in the name of several large farm organizations.

A statement signed by the organizations was presented by Representative Celler (D-NY) to the house rules committee, which is considering whether the proposal shall be allowed to come up on the house floor. A bill by Robinson already has senate approval.

Expressing favor for the objectives of outlawing false advertising and brokerage allowances and
"unreasonable" quantity discounts,
the statement complained the legislation would go far beyond that and hurt cooperatives. It urged action be delayed until next session.

Signers included The American Farm Bureau Federation, The National Grange, The National Cooperative Council, The National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, The Farmers National Grain Corporation and The Northwest Farmers Union Legislative Committee.

SEEK TO AVOID CONTROVERSIES AT G. O. P. MEET

Plans for State Convention Tomorrow Almost Complete

Peoria, Ill., May 21—(AP)— Illinois Republicans, ready to launch the Brooks-Glenn campaign,
today sought to avoid all controversies at the state convention here tomorrow.

Only a few matters were unsettled as party leaders predicted harmony while early arrivals saw preparations for a capacity crowd.

Hoping to return to political power, G. O. P. workers waited for word as to whether more than eight delegates-at-large, with fractional votes, would be sent to the Cleveland national convention.

Also under discussion was whether it would be necessary to vote an endorsement of the Illinois candidate for president, Col.
Frank Knox of Chicago, who won the preferential primary.

Final decisions rested with party leaders scheduled to arrive during the day from Chicago conferences.
Those in positions of leadership included C. Wayland Brooks, nominee for governor; Otis E.
Glenn, senatorial candidate; Geo.
F. Harding of Chicago, aspirant for national committeeman, and State Chairman Perry B. Mc-Clough of Lawrenceville.

Convention Agenda
The convention is scheduled to convene at 11 A. M. at the Peoria armory. The agenda:

Oratory—Major speeches to be made by Brooks and Glenn; Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Peoria is to act as temporary chairman, turning the gavel over to Werner W. Schroeder of Chicago, close associate of the late Len Small.

Presidency—Resolution endorsing Col. Knox may be presented with the sponsorship of the state central committee. Supporters of Senator Borah of Idaho contended that the district delegates should be asked to follow the preferential primary results. Knox carried 15 districts and claims most of the delegates. The state central and Cook county committees have endorsed the Chicagoan.

Delegates-at-large—Advance indications that fractional voting would not be used to increase the delegation. Illinois will have eight
"at large" votes, to be divided between downstate and Cook county.
All are expected to favor Knox. It was possible that 16 delegates,
each with a half-vote, would be named.

Platform—Attacks upon the Hoover and Roosevelt administrations to be included with a Republican "declaration of principles." Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield was scheduled to preside over the platform committee.

Trustees—Three candidates to be named for trustees of the University of Illinois.

In the background was an im-

This picturesque old mansion soon may be in the national spotlight, as headquarters for the Republican campaign for the presidency. If Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas wins the G. O. P. nomination in Cleveland, his official residence—the executive mansion in Topeka, pictured above—will be a Mecca for party notables from all over the country, and, on its rambling veranda, campaign plans will be hatched during the coming summer and fall.

Taxes Absorbing Revenue Gain I. C. Stockholders Told

Chicago, May 21—(AP)—Stockholders of the Illinois Central railroad were told by President
L. A. Downs that while gross revenues have climbed 14 per cent, in 1936, higher costs and increased taxes have absorbed the gain.

"The social security law is costing us around $50,000 a month,
and the pension act around $150,- 000," Downs said at the annual meeting.

"In all, social security will cost us over $2,000,000 this year. If it had not been for these laws, we would have come out pretty well."

ported.

is in the way the fabric is woven. Hold we mean. The open weave lets the air through. It lets your body breathe!

The tropical is the preferred summer
suit of well-dressed men because it LOOKS like one of your smartest heavier suits. It will hold its crease
just as well, it's tailored as well, in every respect, except its weight and coolness it could be another heavy suit! But once you wear a tropical you'll insist upon summer suits for sum-

ALL MESSED UP
By Joseph Fort Newton
read your article every day," writes a young man, "and it interests me. One reason is that you seem to feel and write things that pertain so much to the poor man, and that hits a lot of us."

"I'm a young man twenty-one years old who should be started in the world, but I am not. Maybe it is my fault, but when I look about and see thousands in the same fix, I doubt if I'm to blame. We try hard to get work, but they have only enough work for their own men. People say you have to be skilled nowadays, and I heartily agree, but to become skilled we have to go to some school."

"If we cannot work we cannot save enough to go to school. Another thing, if the family is unfortunate enough to be on relief, and one child gets work the family is taken off relief right away."

"Then the child supports a family. How does this give him a start in life? If the father is over fifty, he has very little chance of getting a regular job. So the child or children are tied down through no fault of their folks or themselves. It's an economic mess."

"The old people have had hard luck by having their savings all swept away, but I think the young folks have a tougher time in a way than they've never had a start, and little hope of getting one."

"The best remedy I have seen so far is the Townsend Plan, which takes care of the old folks, and gives young folks some chance. I was a doubter at first, but I'm for it now. What do you think of it?"

The Townsend Plan seeks security for the aged. Of all civilized nations, our country is the last to move in this matter; and that is why we may go too fast."

In the Social Security Act we made a beginning, but with true American impatience we may plunge into a worse mess. So vast a change must not be decided by stampede, nor will a tax gadget do it."

What will such a plan do to our minds, our moral stamina? It is possible to lose what we have by trying unwisely to get what we want."

Mirrors Help Reveal Secrets at Cooking School

"It's done with mirrors," but there is no trickery about it! We refer to "Foods on Parade" at the Dixon Telegraph's Cooking School, which will open June 2 for a four day program at the Schuler Hall.

The mirrors come into use at the end of the program when each completed dish is beautifully and dramatically presented, appropriately garnished, upon a special table before an inclined mirror, in order that everyone in the audience may have a complete view of each culinary triumph. Fine food truly "takes a bow" at this unique cooking school!

But before that, every step in the preparation of each dish has been explained and illustrated by Miss Lucile Harris, above, in clear easy fashion she tells not only how but why that particular method was followed, in roasting, baking or mixing a cake. The recipe for each dish is printed in the program of the day, so that "pupils" may easily follow the procedure.

Planned for Thrift
That is the way things are done in "Foods on Parade." Style, color and flavor distinguish the dishes presented, but they are all practicable for the average housewife. There are no expensive dishes and none so elaborate that it cannot be duplicated in the home kitchen. Moreover, they are planned with a thought for thrift and the aim is to make the best use of every particle of food.

Prominent on the program are dishes to be prepared from the economical, less-demanded cuts of meat. There are also delicious recipes for the use of left-overs. Many housewives find it wise these days to buy meat in larger portions at one time in order to avail themselves of bargain prices. None of this meat should be wasted, and Miss Harris shows how to make left-overs go a long way.

The use of lard in making cakes and cookies is demonstrated in this cooking school, another thrift idea.

Miss Harris explains why she prefers this shortening in certain recipes and shows how to use it to get best results.

Dozen Dishes from One Recipe!
Methods which are economical of time are also demonstrated in "Foods on Parade." A homemade biscuit mixture which may be prepared and kept ready in the refrigerator is shown as a basis for hot breads, shortcakes, desserts, etc. This can be made up for a month ahead of time.

A "jiffy cake" with self-frosting is one of many other helps to busy housewives.

The newer methods of cooking meat offer other economy ideas. According to Miss Harris the up-to-date cook does not waste her time and energy standing over a broiling steak and giving it many a turn. No indeed! According to the newer way, she turns it but once.

Nor does she baste her roasts. That is not necessary if they have been properly placed in the pan and if the oven temperature is right.

Triumphant Demonstration
These are some of the new quirks and shortcuts in cooking, all based on scientific findings. They are explained and proved at the cooking school.

Miss Harris is a member of the staff of the National Life Stock and Meat Board, a research and educational organization which brings to the practical housewife the results of scientific discoveries in the laboratories of universities, colleges, and the experiment stations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Foods on Parade" is a triumphant demonstration of the merit of these newer ways.

Inferiority May Show in Impudence

By Olive Roberts Barton

I once knew, still know, a woman who could say the most cruel things with a perfectly frank and friendly smile. After I'd gone to bed the truth would begin to dawn. There I was, gullible as the cat's monkey, thinking she was truly friendly; but midnight took off the sugar. In the dark I could clearly perceive the poison.

We all know people who leave us feeling uncomfortable and depressed. We cannot analyze it unless we ourselves are adepts at sparring. In that case we become alertly suspicious and reader with our answers. Wouldn't it be lovely, we think, if we could put Mrs. Judas in her place and settle her hash for once and all?

Now I hate to jump away from this interesting subject and begin to harangue about the children. But there is a connection between this "firstly" and secondly" and so I'll out with it.

When Child Mistrusts Others.
Some children who seem to give impudent answers to perfectly harmless and friendly remarks feel inside as suspicious and alert to offense as we do. After a few over-doses of our sharp-tongued friends.

While they haven't any occasion to be on the defensive, they can't quite trust anybody. They

POETS' CORNER

A PRAYER

By Mary Carolyn Ravier
Make me too brave to lie or be unkind
Make me too understanding too, to mind

The little hurts companions give and friends
The little hurts that no one quite intends

Make me too thoughtful to hurt others so Help me to know

The inmost hearts of those for whom I care,
Their secret wishes, all the loads they bear.

That I may add my courage to their own,
May I make lonely folk feel less alone

And happier ones a little happier yet,
May I forget

What ought to be forgotten and recall Unfailing all

That ought to be recalled; each kindly thing,
Forgetting what may sting.

Let me be joy, be hope, let my life sing.

are sure that everyone is thinking things about them, that they are being criticized and ridiculed in some vague way. As a result they can't give an answer that isn't what is known as a retort. When Mrs. Jones smiles and says aren't the lilacs pretty, Jack may come right back with, "I wasn't taking any lilacs."

The truth motivating the impudent come-back, or the quick defense, is inferiority. When a boy or girl has little real pride of self, it is natural for them to look for unintentional meanings behind the most cordial words. A mother is mistaken when she prods her "softy" into answering back and taking his own part while she pats the sassy one and says he has some spirit and some spunk.

Better to Be Gullible
While this may fit some cases, it won't fit all, or even the majority. The quickly-stung child, the suspicious, overly-sensitive one who carries the chip, is the inferior personality and there fore at heart a coward.

And by the way—going back to Mrs. Judas, it is better for us to stay dumb and gullible. The minute we go about honing our tongues and cupping our ears for insults, we become Don Quixotes tilting with windmills. And it's far more fun to go swimming. It toughens the skin. We are no greater than the things that annoy us.

And by the same token, we should try to show our children that quick retorts are best left unsaid because they only expose us and show how vulnerable we are.

Springtide Renewal

TO THOSE who love to watch the changing seasons, the dawning of springtime in the fields and woods and even along the city streets, is ever new. Each returning year one welcomes signs of earth's awakening—the bursting leaf buds, joyous bird songs, the delicate unfolding of the first wild flowers. Surely this ever-recurring miracle of spring has some significance of permanent value to those who love to watch it.

Once a woman sat by her kitchen window burdened with the languor and weariness which she had been accustomed to associate with the spring season. Outside, in her little garden, a song sparrow perched on the fence, and the air was filled with his cheery song.

Lilies were in bud and delicate shoots of grass were springing up. Suddenly she remembered the words of the Psalmist (Psalm 104:30), "Thou renewest the face of the earth." "Thou renewest," she thought, as she watched the signs of joyful awakening before her. Then she realized that she herself needed spiritual renewal, and that in order to experience that renewal, she only needed to turn to God, who is the source of all life.

She only needed to realize that her strength, vigor, and vitality depended upon Him, and not upon times and seasons. The words of the prophet Isaiah (40:31), "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint." This promise is available now, at the present moment. We can avail ourselves now of the ever-presence of divine Life, Truth, and Love.

It is related of the prophet Moses that he was "an hundred and twenty years old when he died; his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated" (Deuteronomy 34:7). As the seasons come and go, the human so-called mind is apt to measure life by their passing. But Christian Science reveals that man's life is not measured by the turning of the earth on its axis, nor by its revolution around the sun, for God is Life, and man reflects Life, because he is the image and likeness of God. As this scientific fact of being is understood, men will enjoy better health and longer life.

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 246) Mary Baker Eddy writes, "Except for the error of measuring and limiting all that is good and beautiful, man would enjoy more than three-score years and ten and still maintain his vigor, freshness, and promise."

The renewal of strength which results from a scientific waiting upon the Lord can be experienced at any time and at any season. It is not dependent on time or circumstance, but upon the understanding of the ever-presence of God, divine Mind, who is the source of all vitality and strength and activity. There is "no variableness, neither shadow of turning" in the truth of God's ever-presence.

Mrs. Eddy also writes (ibid., p. 246), "Let us then shape our views of existence into loveliness, freshness, and continuity, rather than into age and blight." Are we sorrowfully looking forward to "age and blight," or are we expecting every day a renewal of "loveliness, freshness, and continuity"? Are we companionship with these latter thoughts, or are we fearing the dark shadows of age and decay?

If our work seems burdensome and the day drags wearily, it is well to remind ourselves of the divine promise that "they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint." This promise is available now, at the present moment. We can avail ourselves now of the ever-presence of divine Life, Truth, and Love.

It is need is for more energy, that need is supplied through the understanding that God, divine Mind, is the source of all strength and activity. If to human sense the need is for rest, there are "green pastures" prepared for those who have need of such refreshment, and Love, the divine Shepherd, leads the discouraged and weary pilgrim beside "the still waters," where he may renew his spiritual strength and drink deeply of that which will satisfy and sustain him.—The Christian Science Monitor.

NEWS of the CHURCHES

BRETHREN CHURCH

"Why Prepare For another War?" will be the subject by the Rev. William E. Thompson at the Brethren church next Sunday night when Mr. Thompson will give a sane address on a subject which is of vital interest to every citizen of the United States. The people of this country are greatly disturbed over the rapidly increasing tax burden and the speaker will show the foolishness of piling up billions additional public debt when our citizens are already crushing under the huge deficits of our government.

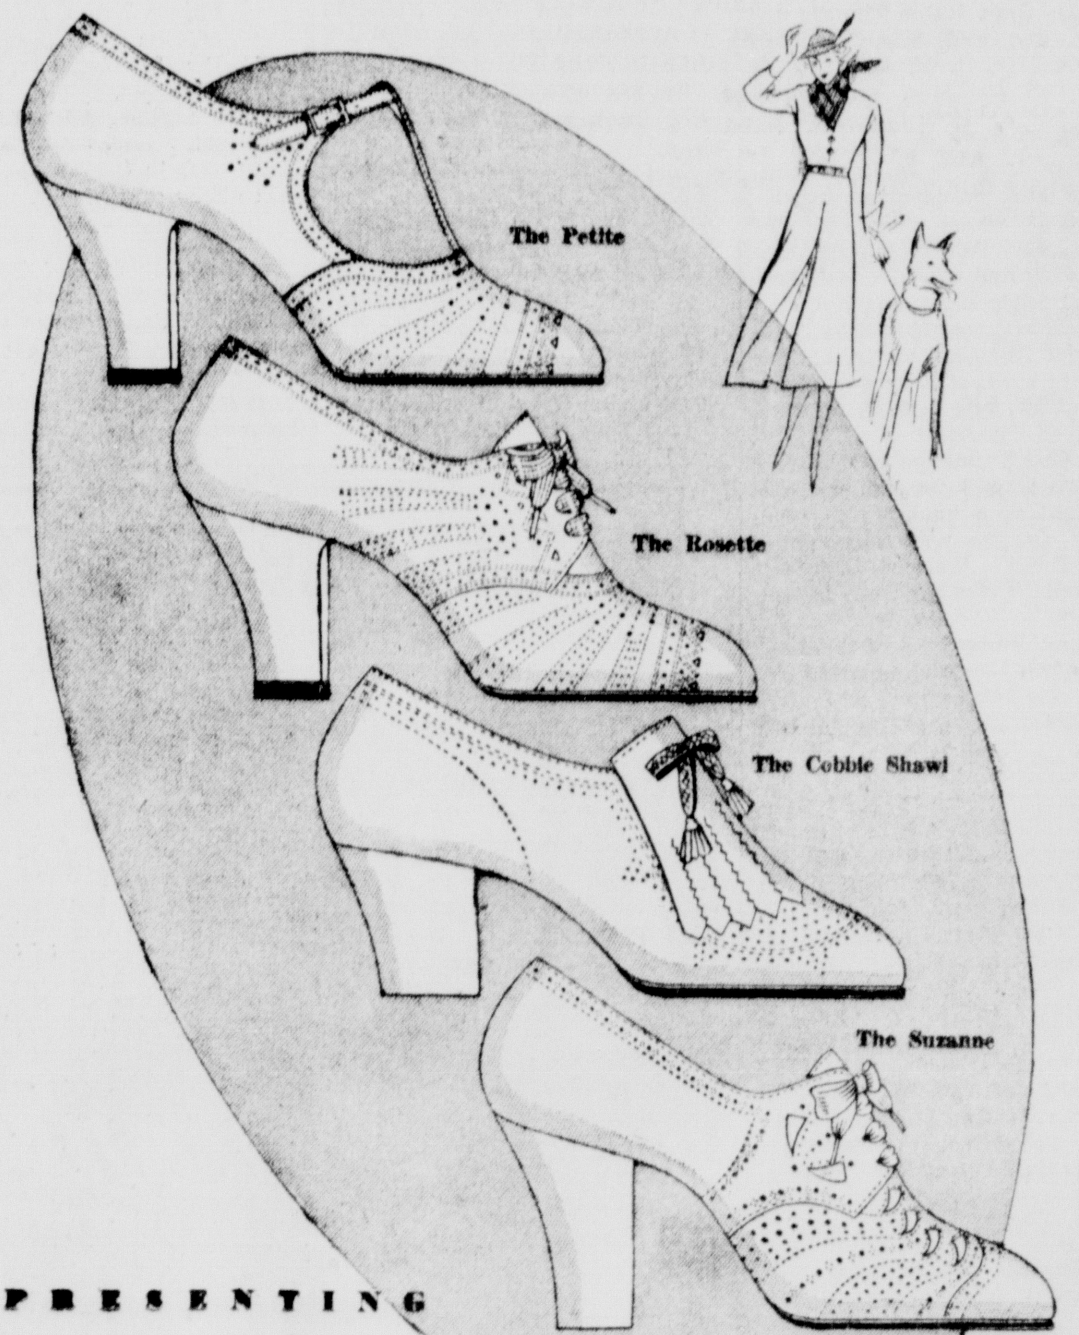

Every sane citizen believes in a reasonable and adequate national defense program but we are spending more for future wars than ever before in time of peace and the evil efforts of such a course will be pointed out by the Rev. Mr. Thompson Sunday night.

We cannot possibly explain why congress has spent more than a billion dollars on its military establishment while we claim to be the greatest peace-loving nation on earth. It cannot be maintained that we need this enormous military establishment to preserve order in the United States, or that we desire it for the purpose of conquest, and we surely do not desire to spend these huge appropriations in order to fight somebody else's battles.

The speaker for Sunday evening will contend that if this huge expenditure is in connection with the political administration which is now placing a burden upon its people, who are supposed to have a government of the people, for the people and by the people, then it is time they rise and demand that our boys shall never again be used as cannon fodder for target practice by those whose ideals are foreign to that of the great principles which have given us the greatest flag in the world. The public is invited to hear Mr. Thompson Sunday night at 7:30.

A yellow cross is fixed on the windshields of careless Berlin drivers and those who cause frequent accident.

DRAFT LEHMAN MOVE STARTED BY DEMOCRATS

Fear New York Governor's Retirement May Mean Loss of State

Washington, May 21.—(AP)—Sharp political interest attached today to efforts of Democrats, led by President Roosevelt, to persuade Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York to run for re-election.

The sudden announcement from the Empire state's chief executive that he would not seek a third term brought immediate expressions of hope that he would change his mind. Signs of a "Draft Lehman" movement were in evidence.

Democratic leaders lauded his record in office and bore in mind the phenomenal vote-getting powers he displayed in the 1934 election. He carried New York state by more than 800,000 votes, a record plurality.

New Dealers were loath to lose the strength they expected Lehman to lend to his party's ticket next fall.

Fear Loss of State

The governor made his brief announcement at Albany yesterday saying "I feel the time has come when I may ask release from the cares and responsibilities of the governorship."

It was recalled that when Lehman entered politics in 1928 under the wing of Roosevelt, then governor of New York, he severed all connections with his vast business enterprises. He had been a textile manufacturer, banker and director of a dozen corporations. There was speculation that the recent death of his brother, Arthur, member of the banking firm of Lehman Brothers, may have prompted his return to private activities.

Roosevelt yesterday expressed a hope that Lehman would see his way clear to run again. He said he had known for some time of the governor's intention.

Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee said at Grand Rapids that Lehman's decision meant "a loss to the state and to the party."

LAWYERS HIT PENSION LAWS OF RAILROADS

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Lawyers for class 1 railroads and 289 lesser railroad enterprises are contesting the constitutionality of railroad retirement system in the district of Columbia supreme court.

They argued that the pension law and a tax law enacted at the same time are together "substantially the same" as the "unconstitutional railroad retirement act of 1934."

The two separate acts, one providing pensions and the other taxing the income of railroads and employees, were passed last year after the Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional the 1934 law in which a levy and a pension system were combined.

As the hearing opened before Justice Jennings Bailey, Charles M. Hay, special assistant to the attorney general, moved, without argument, for dismissal of the railroad's injunction suit against the retirement board and the commissioner of internal revenue.

The government contended that the alleged relation between the two acts could not be proved, and that the railroads were suing, in effect, to enjoin collection of a tax. Such a suit, the government contended, was barred by federal law.

The quadruplet Keyes Sisters of Texas joined in the world's delighted amazement over the Dionne quintuplets when they visited the babies at the nursery in Callander, Ont., during their trip to Canada to invite Dr. R. A. Dafeo, the quins' physician, to attend the Texas Centennial celebration. And as preparation for his visit, they initiated Dr. Dafeo to the sombrero and serape worn in the southwest. Pictured outside the quins' nursery are, left to right Mary and Mona Keyes, Dr. Dafeo, Roberta and Leota Keyes.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Why, in spite of all religion in the world and in spite of successive generations of Christian teaching and profession, is the world still so far from the goal of righteousness and truth?

Our lesson suggests the answer. Here in the environment of His time, among a very religious people, Jesus found a very unsatisfactory condition. He saw the conventional representatives of religion concerned more about outward profession and show than about inward grace and reality.

He beheld the scribes desiring to walk in long robes, loving salutations in the market place, seeking the chief seats in synagogues and the foremost places at feasts.

These things would have been bad enough, but, in spite of all this show, how little religion they had! While they made their long prayers and pretensions of religion they actually were defrauding widows of their houses and possessions.

Along with these scribes and leaders of religion were the people richly endowed who had made no consecration of their lives or possessions at all in proportion to their wealth. In temple and synagogues they gave gifts that cost them very little. When Jesus observed how small was their sacrifice, considering their wealth, He commended in contrast the poor widow who had given very little quantity, but very much in actuality, because it was almost all that she had.

When Jesus saw these things, with the keenness of His judgment and His prophetic eye, He knew what would happen to such a church and society. Only destruction could follow upon scenes like that, and even the great temple, He predicted, would cast down, stone from stone.

When they asked Him when these things would be, He declined to set any time. It is quite possible that He was not speaking from exact knowledge of the future, but that He was predicting this destruction as the sheer outworking of the laws of God in the presence of the forces destroying the life of the people.

"Where there is no vision," said the prophet of old, "the people perish." That always has been true. There is only one foundation upon which there can be permanent building and that is the foundation of honesty and truth.

A building could not stand that was not built with square and plumb line, and no more can a society stand, either in church or in state, that was not built in uprightness.

Surely we need to drive these things home to our own age. The things that Jesus emphasized concerning His own time have been more than fulfilled, and every age has exemplified the truth of His prophecies.

The word of Jesus to this age is a word of warning, a word of exhortation. It is a demand for reality in the soul, and for truth in all outward expression of life in word and in deed.

FAY WEBB WINS DIVORCE FROM VALLEE TODAY

Los Angeles, May 21.—(AP)—Fay Webb of the screen won a divorce from Rudy Vallee after testifying her life with him was a series of emotional climaxes.

The uncontested interlocutory decree granted by Superior Judge Arthur Crum brought to an end a bitter litigation between the dark-eyed actress and the radio singer that began in January of 1934 when Miss Webb first brought suit for separate maintenance.

"During the time I was married to Mr. Vallee I dropped 15 pounds under my normal weight," she testified.

"He often cursed and swore at me. I never knew when he might throw something."

Judge Crum interrupted to ask if Vallee had ever actually thrown anything at her.

"No," said Miss Webb reflectively. "Not at me."

Miss Webb's corroborating witness was her father, Chief of Police Clarence Webb of Santa Monica, Calif.

He said he observed that the marriage was not happy when he paid a visit with Mrs. Webb to Vallee's Maine lodge several years ago. Miss Webb came back to Santa Monica for her health, he said.

Announcement was made in court that Vallee had agreed to pay Miss Webb $100 weekly for life or until she remarries. The terms of an additional cash settlement were not announced.

Miss Webb was married to Vallee July 6, 1931, and separated April 4, 1933. It was early the next year that the series of legal tilts began that embroiled the couple in court actions both here and in New York.

Christians Join Jewish Exodus From Holy City

Jerusalem, May 21.—(AP)—Christians joined Jews in a wholesale exodus from the tense old city of Jerusalem.

Of a former Jewish population of 5,000, only 200 Jewish families remained in the old city, scene of several recent slayings in the bitter Arab-Jew controversy, the Jewish telegraphic agency reported.

The agency said 26 Jews had been slain since April 19 and that none of the killers had been caught. However, two persons arrested in the Nashajibi quarter appeared in the police lineup today on suspicion of complicity in the killing of three Polish Jews outside a cinema Saturday night.

A proclamation rejecting the British colonial office's proposal for a royal commission of inquiry was issued by the Arab supreme council. The council was formed to direct a general strike movement against Jewish immigration and sale of land to Jews.

The proclamation also announced the strike would continue.

MANY TICKLISH PROBLEMS FACE EUROPE RULERS

Creation of New Roman Empire Gives Statesmen Headaches

By The Associated Press
The new empire that Fascism built with bullets turned its hand today to two ticklish problems—the African color line and the foreign troops who still stand guard in Ethiopia.

It Messagero, influential Roman newspaper, served notice there would be no "empire of mulattoes." It deplored gay songs of war which thrilled of strong Italian soldier heroes, rushing to liberate charming Ethiopian lasses.

While official France flatly refused an Italian request that 150 French colonial troops withdraw from guarding railway shops at Dire-dawa, British and French statesmen were reported conferring over Fascist "hints" about legion guards in Addis Ababa.

The Italians believe these guards, who valorously protected foreign lives during the rioting which preceded the Italian occupation of Haile Selassie's one-time capital, now are unnecessary.

Recognition Enters
However, the question of whether such a withdrawal would amount to tacit recognition of the new Roman empire entered into the case.

In Paris, Leon Blum, who will be France's new premier next month unless the unexpected happens, made it plain his leftist government will press for settlement of the crisis caused by the Ethiopian war and the sanctions taken against the "aggressor."

In Africa, Viceroy Pietro Badoglio, military hero of the conquest, started home for what was described as a brief holiday. He departed while British authorities investigated the mysterious disappearance of a British ambulance orderly in Ethiopia, a man who was undergoing treatment against rabies.

Geneva heard from Harold D. Butler, speaking before the International Labor Conference, a new warning against European or Asiatic war; Sir Maurice Hankey, secretary of the British Imperial Defense Council, spoke out in

Salvage '$1,000,000 Wallpaper'

The "Million Dollar Room" of Chicago's Union League Club is losing its "wallpaper," so the depression must be over! Five years ago, during hard times, these "worthless" securities, being steamed off by Momme Jacobson, painter, and C. W. Bergquist, chairman of the house committee, were contributed by pessimistic members to decorate the room. Recently, however, the donors have been discovering that the "wallpaper" isn't quite worthless, after all, and have been asking the return of their stocks and bonds. The room will be redecorated as the Gold Room.

INSANITY WILL BE DEFENSE OF JNO. FIORENZA

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Lewis H. Titterton, broadcasting company executive, testifying in the murder trial of John Fiorenza, charged with slaying Titterton's wife, Nancy, in their apartment April 10, said his wife was cheerful when he left home the morning of April 10, and when he telephoned her later in the morning.

"She laughed," he said, "I read her a letter to amuse her."

He identified a blue dressing gown and a pair of pink pajamas as garments his wife had been wearing.

On cross-examination, Titterton testified that the entrance door to the apartment did not lock automatically.

Fiorenza, 24-year-old upholsterer's helper, heard the state ask for his conviction of first degree murder charge as opening statements were made.

"We will prove he deliberately killed Mrs. Titterton," said District Attorney William C. Dodge.

Henry Klauber, Fiorenza's counsel, indicated a plea of insanity would be made for the defendant who confessed the slaying but pleaded innocent to the murder charge.

D. H. S. Track Team Title Defense Will Be Tough Assignment

Conference Schools Primed to Terminate Locals' 4-Year Reign

DeKalb Stands Best Chance of Taking N. C. I. Throne

An all-day meet is planned by schools of the North Central Illinois conference on the DeKalb high school track Saturday, preliminaries to begin at 9 a. m. and finals events about 1 p. m.

Competing in the meet will be all the N. C. I. schools Dixon, Sterling, DeKalb, Rochelle, Belvidere, and Mendota. Present indications point to a three-cornered race between Dixon, Sterling, and DeKalb, the latter probably offering the biggest threat to the Purple and White's crown. Dixon high school has won the championship for the past four years.

In Bill Terwilliger, DeKalb has a state champion 100 yard dash man. He won at Champaign in 10 seconds flat, and is also considered a strong broad jump entrant. Other strong Barb entrants are Don Riley, 880 yard run star, Grube, and Montgomery in the discus, and Beals in the 440. McMillion of Dixon is expected to outdistance McCormick of DeKalb in the hurdles while Stitzel is favored to outrun Beals in the 440.

Wheeler vs. McMillion. Wheeler of Sterling, who outdistanced McMillion here in the Sterling-Dixon high dual meet is another threat to local supremacy. Harms is Rochelle's main cog in the shot and javelin throws. At the Freeport sectional he tossed the spear 182' 6 1/2" for a new district record. Magin of Sterling is picked to capture pole vault honors from the remainder of the field. Both Wheeler and Magin went to Champaign. Dixon's state track tourney entrants, Reis, McMillion, Washburn and Thompson will be mainstays of the locals in the high jump, hurdles, pole vault and dash events.

Former conference meet records follow:

100 yard dash—Terwilliger, DeKalb, 10.1, 1935.
220 yard dash—Terwilliger, DeKalb, 22.2, 1935.
440 yard dash—Gebhardt, Sterling, 53.2, 1934.
880 yard run—Gebhardt, Sterling, 2:03, 1934.
1 mile run—Hussung, Sterling, 4:35.1, 1934.
Pole vault—L. Beals, DeKalb, 11 feet, 1931.
Shot put—Praetz, Sterling, 44 feet 3 inches, 1933.
High jump—Strong, Dixon, 5 feet 10 inches, 1932.
Javelin—Underwood, Dixon, 170 feet 2 inches, 1935.
Discus—Kovacevich, DeKalb, 124 feet 6 1/2 inches, 1935.
Broad jump—Strong, Dixon, 21 feet 11 inches, 1933.
120 high hurdles—Baldwin, Sterling, 1:55, 1933.
220 low hurdles—Baldwin, Sterling, 2:56, 1933.
Relay, 880 yard, DeKalb (Hart, Da Ronco, Grodland, Terwilliger), 1:35.6.

CUBS GET DAVIS AND ALLEN FOR KLEIN, PITCHER

Philadelphia, May 21.—(AP)—The Philadelphia National League club announced today it traded Curt Davis, a right handed pitcher, and Outfielder Ethan Allen to the Chicago Cubs for Chuck Klein and Fabian Kowalik.

Gerry Nugent, president of the Phillies, acknowledged that cash was involved in the deal but declined to state the amount. Reports were current that the Phillies received $75,000.

The announcement said no cash was involved. Reports were current, however, that the Phillies also received $75,000.

Davis and Allen were ordered to report at Brooklyn where the Cubs were scheduled to play today. It was not immediately known whether Klein and Kowalik would be available for the Phils-Pittsburgh game today.

400 ATHLETES IN FORM FOR TRACK MEET AT NORMAL

Illinois Colleges Have Champion Record-Makers

Normal, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—A field of 400 athletes headed by two record holders and defending champions in 11 events opened their invasion of Normal today, preparatory to the opening of the 17th annual Illinois intercollegiate track and field championship tomorrow.

Preliminaries in the track events will be held tomorrow afternoon and the finals Saturday. The annual golf championships also will be decided.

The week-end activities will open tonight when a testimonial banquet is tendered for conference administrators whose service totals almost 100 years. Honored guests at the banquet staged by athletes, coaches and faculty administrators will be William T. McAndrew, Southern Teachers athletic director; Charles P. Lanz, Eastern Teachers athletic director; William T. Harmon, conference commissioner; and Fred Muhl, Illinois Wesleyan.

Four-Cornered Battle Looms. Northern Teachers, with defending titleholders in four individual events, will defend its track team title. A four cornered battle was in prospect, however, with North Central, State Normal, Illinois Wesleyan and Northern Teachers involved. Knox, too, was conceded an excellent chance for championship honors, after pressing Coe last week in the Midwest conference meet.

Dick Goff, Knox hurdler who holds the conference record for the high barriers at 15.1 seconds, and Lloyd Seibert, North Central pole vaulter who shares the 12 foot 10 3/8 inch standard with Lewis of Knox, will be the only record holders to compete.

Defending titleholders entered include Goff, high and low hurdles; Karl Hein, Northern Teachers, 440 and 880 yard runs; Charles Culver, North Central mile run; Ed Barron, Monmouth, 100 and 220 yard dashes; Tom Slane, Illinois Wesleyan, shot put; Walter Peters, Northern Teachers, javelin; Reino Nori, Northern Teachers, broad jump; and Paul Scott, Illinois Wesleyan, high jump.

SNYDER CAN'T FIGURE BUCKS INTO A TITLE

Columbus, O., May 21.—(AP)—Larry Snyder, coach of Ohio State's track team—and the middle west's No. 1 worrier—had a deeper than usual furrow between his eyes today.

Larry had worn out several pencils trying to figure his Buckeyes into the Western conference championship (on paper) when he was forced to call off his ciphering to greet the invading coaches and athletes who are arriving for the Friday and Saturday classic.

Snyder's possible point totals for the four favored teams stood like this:

Indiana 53; Michigan 52; Wisconsin 49; Ohio State 46.

"There's something wrong somewhere in those figures," Snyder admitted. "But I can't find it. By figuring the four top teams would score 200 points, but that leaves only 25 for the other six schools, since there are only 225 points in the entire meet. And last year the last six teams scored a total of 88 1/2 points. They can't drop off that much, and yet each of those scores for the first four is a distinct possibility."

MAROONS HAVE CORNER ON NET CHAMPIONSHIP

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—Tennis stars of the Big Ten took over the courts at the University of Chicago today to settle up their championship business for the season, with Chicago and Northwestern figured to make a neighborhood battle of the annual tournament.

The Maroons, undefeated in dual meet competition this season and the only team to conquer Northwestern, were expected to retain the team championship and were given better than an even chance to take the single and doubles titles. Norman Bickel, Chicago's number one man, entering the tournament with a spotless record in dual meets, was the singles favorite, with Russell Ball of Northwestern the choice to meet the Maroon star in the finals.

Chicago's doubles pair of Bickel and Norbert Burgess, also undefeated, appeared to be the class of its field.

Illinois, headed by Joe Moll, ranked as the dark horse, with Iowa and Wisconsin also rated as possibilities.

Miss Pam Barton Leads Golf Open Field In Finals

Southport, Eng., May 21.—(AP)—Stocky Pam Barton of London, shooting consistently rather than spectacularly, led Bridget Newell, the qualifying medalist three up today at the halfway mark of their 36-hole final match for the British golf championship.

One up at the end of the first nine, Miss Barton finished the morning round brilliantly with an eagle three on the 17th and a par four on the 18th to become three up. Her medal score was 79 to Miss Newell's 84.

Illinois Will Have Part in Conference of Liquor Officials

Springfield, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—Representatives of the Illinois state department of finance will attend the third annual conference of state liquor administrators at Providence, R. I., July 16-18. It was announced here today.

The representatives probably will include S. L. Nudelman, assistant to Director K. L. Ames; Neil H. Jacoby, legal research division superintendent; E. B. Eisner, superintendent of accounting; and Sam Rubin, supervisor of the liquor revenue division.

Jacoby is vice chairman of the national organization.

MIDDLEWEST BOXERS WILL GO TO BERLIN

Four Negroes Take Olympic Finals Victories

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—The middle west will provide Uncle Sam with seven-eighths of his Olympic boxing team, an aggregation emphasizing skill rather than slugging power.

Of the eight youngsters who last night earned number one ranking on the squad which will battle the rest of the world for Olympic pugilistic honors at Berlin in August, three are from Cleveland, two from Chicago, and one each from Detroit and Omaha, Neb. The eighth position will be looked after by Jimmy Clark, Jamestown, N. Y., the outstanding puncher of the lot.

Clark, Howell King of Detroit, Jackie Wilson of Cleveland, and Arthur Oliver of Chicago, are Negroes, inspired by Joe Louis' dazzling success since he left the amateur ranks less than two years ago. The first victor to receive the acclaim of a crowd of 19,152 spectators, who paid $33,134 for the wind-up of the biggest elimination series ever staged in the United States, was Louis Laurie, a bovis 112-pound sharpshooter of Italian descent from Cleveland. Laurie outpointed little Jimmy Urso of Detroit in a rousing three round battle, less than a quarter of an hour after he had taken the Olympic oath on behalf of the 16 finalists.

Wilson Wins
Jackie Wilson, 6 foot, 2 inch Negro, made it two in a row for Cleveland, by outboxing Johnny Brown, Chicago Golden Gloves title holder in the 118-pound division, and Ted Kara assured Cleveland of the biggest representation by winning a decisive decision triumph over Joe Church of Batavia, N. Y., in the featherweight class.

Andy Scrivani, another Chicago Golden Gloves champion, outlasted Tommy Tedesco of Niagara Falls, N. Y., to win the decision in the 135-pound division. In the closest battle of the night, King won the decision over Chester Rutecki, veteran Chicago amateur, to gain the 147-pound title. King built up his margin with an effective body attack, but had to stand off a vicious rally by the Chicagoan in the third round.

Clark gave the only convincing demonstration of punching power by scoring a one-sided victory over Ord Fink, a game youngster from Syracuse University. Clark dropped Fink in the first round with a crushing right to the jaw, and had the collegian in distress right down to the final bell.

Carl Vinciguerra, Creighton University football star from Omaha, had little trouble in winning a decision triumph over William Townsend, a courageous, but outclassed soldier from the U. S. Army in Hawaii, for the number one light heavyweight position. Arthur Oliver, solemn Chicago Negro, gained the heavyweight job by outscoring Willis Johnson, Negro from Detroit, in a wild-swinging battle.

SHUNS RESPONSIBILITY

Chicago—A resolution asking repeal of the Hickman-Lantz law requiring the city to levy a 30 cent property tax for care of the Chicago poor after July 1 was adopted by the city council, which asked that the responsibility be accepted by the state through the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission until Jan. 1, 1937.

GIANTS FIGHT WAY INTO LEAD OVER ST. LOUIS

Injuries Fail To Check Upward Struggle

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer.
The New York Giants, a team which has seen its starting pitchers finish only nine games out of 29; whose manager and leading batter, Bill Terry, is on the bench because of injuries; which has had nearly all its key men hurt at one time or another and which was down to one able catcher for a time, is in first place in the National league.

To make it even more surprising, eight of those nine complete games have been hurled by two men, Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, and Schumacher has finished only three times in eight efforts.

Coming back after a disastrous western tour, during which they lost six of eight games, the Giants have rallied to win seven in a row on their home lot from those same western rivals and climb from fourth place to the top.

They took the lead by a direct frontal attack on the St. Louis gas house gang, yesterday, trimming the Cardinals 10 to 7 and routing their old teammate, Roy Parmelee.

Neither the Giants nor the Cubs troubles appeared entirely over after yesterday's games. Schumacher, although he went the route, gave 14 blows including homers by Terry Moore and Pepper Martin.

Why this DIFFERENCE?

This tobacco leaf gives a cigar the harsh, bitter, bitey taste you men have complained about for years. It's the cause of millions of cigars being thrown away half-smoked.

This same tobacco leaf can give a cigar that taste you really enjoy. . . mild, mellow and full of real tobacco flavor. No harshness or bitterness—and no biting the tongue.

The same tobacco leaf. . . but entirely different results in a cigar. Why?

The answer is as simple as A-B-C. All cigar tobacco—even the finest—contains certain bitter oils and harsh elements. If left in, you get a harsh, bitter cigar that bites your tongue. If taken out, you get a smooth, mellow cigar that's a pleasure to smoke.

Ordinary curing methods don't—and can't—take out these harsh, bitter elements from the tobacco. Other methods actually damage—or destroy—the pure tobacco flavor.

THE SECRET OF PHILLIES

Bayuk invented a process that removes these harsh, bitter elements—and also brings out the real flavor of the tobacco.

This process—covered by patent protection—is what gives PHILLIES that mild, smooth, real tobacco taste from end to end. It's the reason more men smoke PHILLIES than any other cigar in America.

LATEST ROYAL EXILE

THE "International Order of Royal Exiles" has added to its circle another member, Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, who recently fled Addis Ababa, leaving the capital to marauding natives. Italian troops had pushed back the great Negus, who boasts direct descent from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, until he resorted to the safety of foreign soil. Haile Selassie had been Emperor of Ethiopia since his brilliant coronation in 1930. He was born in 1891, and became regent, with Empress Zauditu, in 1916. As emperor, he assumed the awesome title of "Elect of God, King of Kings, Conquering Lion of Judah, and Light of the World." He is well educated and, during his reign, introduced many social and economic reforms.

But he could not build an army of primitive tribesmen, despite their fearlessness and courage, that could face Italian invaders.

DAILY HEALTH

Popular Misconceptions: I

In a recent address on "The Art of Medicine," Dr. Christopher Howard discussed a number of popular misconceptions.

People cling with conviction and sometimes emphasis to the belief that insomnia is dangerous to health and leads to mental exhaustion and insanity. There is no jot of proof that such is the case. Though bodily rest is essential, mental oblivion, even apparent, is not necessary to re-current and adequate activity of the mind.

The amount of sleep required by a given organism varies between very wide limits. The best brain workers and those who, by the world's standard are acclaimed as great, often sleep very little.

This must not be taken as a plea for less sleep. It merely means insomnia is not necessarily harmful.

The belief is also widespread that overwork leads to a nervous breakdown. Brain work itself leads to any damage of the nervous tissue, but five minutes' fear or a day's worry, which is civilization's substitute for fear, may affect a person irreparably for the worse.

Many will argue that they know from personal experience of given cases in which overwork at college or on a new job has caused a "nervous breakdown." Appearances uncritically accepted seem to bear out this contention, but a critical analysis of the cited cases would reveal that the nervous breakdown was not the result of the overwork, but rather the reverse. The intensive and of-times comparatively unproductive work was the result and expression of an anxiety which ultimately led to the so-called nervous breakdown.

In a healthy animal too much work, whether physical or mental, leads to fatigue and fatigue dic-tates rest and recuperation. In the anxious person, excess fatigue be-comes a stimulant which, if unchecked, may lead to the disor-ganization of the individual's mental and emotional life, and in consequence, a breakdown.

DEPRESSION IS BLAMED FOR IN- CREASED FEVER

Toll of Malaria and Ty- phoid in Illinois Mounts Slowly

Springfield, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—Attributed to economic conditions of the last six years, an increase of malaria in the state was pointed out today to the Illinois State Medical Society.

"Malaria is on the increase," warned Dr. Tom Kirkwood of Lawrenceville at the 86th annual meeting of the society yesterday. "In 1935, there were 21,000 cases in the state, resulting in 71 deaths."

The society will conclude its convention today. The principal remaining business was the election of officers. The nominating committee yesterday selected Dr. R. K. Packard, Chicago, as president-elect to succeed Dr. Roland L. Green of Peoria, who will be inducted into office today.

Dr. Kirkwood said the reasons for the increase of malaria were directly or indirectly based on "depression-caused poverty." As a result, he said, the physical resistance of the people had been weakened; cities were unable to finance prevention steps such as eradication of breeding grounds; reduction of programs of construction of new public health facilities, and the financial inability of residents to provide adequate sanitation facilities in rural areas.

Not Stamped Out.
Coupled with these as a cause of the increase, Dr. Kirkwood said, was a general inattention to the disease because of the "erroneous belief" that malaria had been stamped out.

"The disease has never been completely stamped out of the southern Illinois counties, and has made great strides in those counties the past five years. Too, in Cook county last year there were 11 deaths from malaria."

"There always have been public carriers and the malaria germs are not slow to take advantage of conditions in their favor."

Dr. B. E. Montgomery, Harrisburg, pointed out that 34 counties comprising the southern portion of Illinois were in a "very unfavorable position as compared to the remainder of the counties in the state."

So, Illinois Suffers.
"In the past decade typhoid fever killed 1,397 persons in Illinois, and of this total, 705 were in the southern counties," he said. "The mortality rate in the southern counties is seven per 100,000 as compared to the state rate of two per 100,000."

"More than one-fourth of deaths from infantile diarrhea in the past six years in Illinois were in this section which has less than one-eighth of the total state population. Malaria and trachoma are public health problems of considerable magnitude in southern Illinois."

"Lack of sanitation is a dominant factor in this condition, and it is seen that southern Illinois is burdened with a disproportionately heavy loss from communicable diseases."

"Public health facilities are badly needed to overcome these bad health conditions."

PAW PAW NEWS

By Mrs. John Urey

Paw Paw—Little Jean Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Henry, is broken hearted over the death of his pet dog.

Miss Bina Miller was off school duty Tuesday afternoon because of the illness of her mother, Miss Frances Urish substituted in the fifth and sixth grades.

A party of 14 tried to charivari Dee McLaughlin and Darlene Etzbach who were married Sunday, last Monday evening but did not find them at home. They were successful Tuesday evening, however, and all went to Mendota and enjoyed a theater party.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Rosenkrans were in Dixon Thursday, where the latter consulted an eye and ear specialist.

Bruce Wheeler has accepted the leadership of the Paw Paw Boy Scout troop and the program is progressing nicely. An eastern Lee county camporee is to be held in Archer's woods north of Compton, Friday and Saturday, May 22 and 23 when troops of Lee, Steward, Compton, Rochelle and Paw Paw will participate. The camporee will begin Friday after the close of school and continue until Saturday afternoon. The public is invited to the camp fire program to be held Friday evening. The following Scouts are registered in the reorganized Paw Paw troop: Glenn Beemer, Wesley Coss, Russell Gaines, John Gorton, Robert Fichtmaster and Jack Fleming.

Sixty friends and neighbors last Thursday evening gathered at the Cyclone school where Miss Sue Taylor teaches. It was a complete surprise and not one of the pupils knew of it. Miss Taylor has taught for seven years at this school and next season she will teach a school near Compton. The younger folks played games on the lawn while the adults played cards inside. At 11 o'clock a delicious and bountiful lunch was served. Miss Taylor was presented with a lovely pen and pencil set and all regretted her leaving but wished her success in her new school.

Paw Paw defeated Earlville on Wednesday afternoon to produce the first win of the season, the score being 13-8. The game was played at Earlville and although only seven innings were completed the contest lasted for more than two and one-half hours. Each team scored 14 hits, 7 of Earlville's being of the scratch variety. Harlan Douglass and Bud Yenerich led the hitting attack for Paw Paw, both getting two doubles and Douglass a single in addition. James Coss pitched a good game for the locals, being hit hard in only one frame, the third. He struck out 12 opposing batters. Earlville used three pitchers to quell Paw Paw's rally which produced eight runs in their half of the third.

The movies at the opera house are attracting large crowds.

Tuesday evening members of Foster chapter met at the Masonic hall for the regular meeting and at the close, the evening was devoted to honoring Mrs. Minnie Browning, associate matron who is soon leaving for her new home in Gibson City. A short but entertaining program was given arranged by Miss Lelah Miller and Mrs. Emma Chowning. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nangle contributed several musical numbers and son clever contests were enjoyed.

Miss Edith Kindeberger and assistant served refreshments of cake and ice cream. The Dorothy Matron Mrs. Cora McLaughlin in behalf of the chapter presented Mrs. Browning with a very pretty and useful gift for which she voiced her appreciation. All wished her much happiness in her new home.

Wins 'First Lap' in Senate Race

Renominated in a primary in which his Republican opponents were snowed under, 4-1, Senator Charles L. McNary (Rep., Ore.) will add to his 20 years of continuous service in the Senate if he can defeat a Townsendite opponent in the November election. The Senate Republican floor leader is pictured above in characteristic pose, delivering an opinion in a hearing on proposals for the Columbia Valley Authority, which involves the welfare of his constituents back home.

COUZENS GIVEN INVITATION TO BE A DEMOCRAT

Michigan's Republican Senator Silent on Proposition

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 21.—(AP)—United States Senator James Couzens, a Republican who faces vigorous opposition for renomination within his own party, had an invitation today to enter the Democratic primary next September.

In Washington, Couzens received without comment the news that the state Democratic pre-primary convention had endorsed him, along with five Democrats, for the senatorial nomination. He has made no announcement of his plans.

The implied invitation to the Republican senator was contained in a blanket endorsement of all who have been mentioned as possible candidates. The Democrats named are Rep. Prentiss M. Brown (D-Mich.), former Governor William A. Comstock, Frank A. Picard, who was defeated by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R.) in 1934; Ray D. Schneider, Wayne county auditor, and John H. Mayskens, a University of Michigan instructor.

Heard "Call Me Jim"

The Democrats, who will hold their formal state convention today to elect eight delegates at large, each with half a vote, to the national convention, heard Postmaster General James A. Farley predict in an address last night that "the governor of a typical prairie state" would be the Republican presidential nominee.

He did not name the candidate, but Gov. Alf. M. Landon of Kansas is the only midwestern state executive prominently mentioned now as a possible presidential nominee.

Farley said the candidate to whom he referred was "destitute of experience and devoid of practice in national, still less in international matters," and that his election would be a "reckless experiment in government."

DUEL WITH BEAN BLOWERS DESIRE OF THIS EDITOR

Ottawa Man Claims He is Originator of Night- shirt Club

Ottawa, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—A challenge to a duel with bean blowers at 50 yards was issued today to Tom B. Curtis of Atlanta, Ga., by L. M. (Doc) Davis, Ottawa editor, who declared he was the originator of all movements to organize wearers of the old fashioned nightshirt.

"The other day Curtis told what he called his plans to form the 'Old-Fashioned Nightshirt Union,'" the managing editor of the Daily Republican-Times said.

"It's pure plagiarism. Tom is my southern deputy and is taking advantage of the distance between us to claim authorship of the plan, which I laid down as long as five years ago."

Davis dragged out dusty newspaper files to show his editorial-page columns of half a decade ago in which he heaped calumny upon "Lame Brained Pyjama wearers" and recited the comfort of the "good old nightshirt with generous vents up the sides."

Federal Judge a Member
Davis' articles resulted in formation of Local No. 1 of the Night-shirt Club. It now boasts several hundred members in this community of 15,000 persons. He said Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward of Chicago, former resident of Ottawa, was one of the first to join, and was followed into the club by Mayor H. J. Hilliard and other city officials.

The members' loyalty to the club's by-laws is tested, Davis said, by frequent late night visits to their homes to check on their sleeping attire.

Curtis, general agent of the Charleston & Western Carolina Railway Company, was quoted as saying that suggestion for such a club was sent by him last week to

Gov. Richard Leche, new governor of Louisiana, who said he never had worn anything but old-fashioned nightshirts.

"I commissioned Curtis to expand my club in the south," Davis declared, "and now he takes credit for the idea. My Missouri blood is boiling and I want a fight."

When pressed on the latter point Davis meekly suggested the bean blowers.

CONSIDERS IT JOKE

Atlanta, May 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Tom B. Curtis contended today that her husband was drafted without his knowledge for leadership of the national old-fashioned night-shirt revival movement.

"The very idea," she exclaimed at her fashionable Ormen Circle home, "Why, Mr. Curtis doesn't even wear an old fashioned night-shirt himself. He wears pajamas."

Of Editor L. M. "Doc" Davis' bean-shooter challenge to Curtis for plagiarism of the nightshirt union plan, she added:

"It's the biggest farce I have ever heard of."

Curtis, a railway executive, is on a business trip to New York and Washington. Mrs. Curtis said she wired him about the nightshirt controversy and "he wired right back that he knew nothing of it, and that probably some practical joker was using his name."

Asks Roosevelt's Aid In Plight Of Field's Old Widow

St. Louis, May 21.—(AP)—A telegraphic appeal has been sent to President Roosevelt today for aid in preventing foreclosure of the Wisconsin home of Mrs. Julia Field, aged and invalid widow of Eugene Field.

Jesse P. Henry, chairman of a civic committee restoring the childhood home here of the immortal children's poet, sent the telegram in which he described Mrs. Field's plight. She is suffering from heart disease at her residence at Crystal Lake, Jeafford Junction, Wis.

Henry was informed late yesterday by her son, Eugene Field, II, that foreclosure of her property was scheduled for confirmation Saturday in the county court at Merrill, Wis.

THE coming of the white man spelled doom for most of the large animals of the United States, but the coyote, although reduced somewhat in numbers, roams today over a larger area than ever before. One of the most cunning of all the wolf tribe, he shuns traps and poison, and thrives on land opened up by the white man's ax.

Blowing Huge, Tricky Bubbles Is a Pipe for Him!

Youngsters who puff with pride after blowing a soap bubble as big as a grapefruit will gulp in amazement at the work of Wallace Block, Buffalo bubble-blower par excellence. It isn't done with mirrors or intricate apparatus, and ordinary soapbuds serve the purpose. Nevertheless, Block, who is forever blowing bubbles, can easily produce specimens almost as large as himself, and even put them through surprising tricks. The one at left above, for instance, has just jumped through that little hoop, then expanded to the size of a miniature blimp. At right, with his hands, Block molds another of his soapy creations.

NELSON NEWS

By MRS. M. C. STITZEL

NELSON—George W. Palmer accompanied his daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. J. Palmer to her home in Madison, Wis. Tuesday for a short visit.

During the severe storm of Sunday a large tree was blown down at the B. H. Veith home south of town and crashed on the electric wires, tearing the wires out of their home and cutting off electricity entirely from the village. Workmen had the damage repaired in less than two hours.

The graduating exercises held at the Nelson school house Monday evening brought out a large crowd,
who enjoyed a fine program, each graduate acquitting themselves in a very satisfactory manner. The decorations were very pretty and elaborate. A dance was enjoyed by the young people at the conclusion of the program.

Tony Bevilacqua and Robert Stil-vel motored to Champaign Saturday morning and attended the in-terscholastic meet and enjoyed some social functions.

CHAPTER I

THERE were dancing lights
in Gail Everett's amber eyes as she walked lightly along Fifth avenue. It seemed almost impossible to believe that she had won the coveted John S. Larne prize for costume design, and was, even now, on her way to the famous manufacturer's office.

Pausing for a moment in front of a window display,
she opened her pocketbook
and pulled out a letter. Yes, there it was—the invitation
that had followed her winning of the prize. Once more she unfolded it and read, "If you should decide to come to New York, we shall do all we can to see that you get a good start."

Slipping the letter into its envelope and tucking it again into her handbag, she repeated the address of the famous silk manufacturer while she turned into E.
24th street.

Everything was new to Gail, for it was her first visit to New York since she had been a child. What a gay time she'd had then! Still she couldn't have been more than five when, one day, her father had taken her into his arms and told her that her beautiful mother would never come home again—
that she'd gone away to be with the angels.

Gail had not been able to understand that. She had needed her mother. Of course there was old Martha, the housekeeper.
Many a time Martha had stopped her work to listen to the child's questions, to try to answer them and to join, rather clumsily, in Gail's play. When she did this Martha would stop frequently, dabbing at her wrinkled face with a handkerchief.

Gail herself had been too young
at her mother's death to miss her for any length of time. And soon she was big enough to go to school. Then Martha had grown too old to do the housework and had gone to her cottage on Cape Cod. By the time Gail was in her teens she was traveling all over the country with her father, enjoying the carefree hours camping wherever he, an artist, wished to stop to paint.

Her education—there was no
denying it—had been rather hap-pazard. Gail had gone to 13 schools in as many states. When she was 16 her father decided to go abroad and Gail was enrolled in a boarding school. She had been furious at first. Later, when she had met Miss Cranston, a friend of her mother's, she stilled her rebel heart. After all, the separation from her father was to be only for a few months. When vacation time arrived she'd be with him again.

Gail, waiting for the traffic lights to flash from green to red, reviewed all this briefly. The lights changed then and she joined the throng of men and women hurrying across the street. She was quite unmindful of the fact that more than one person paused to cast speculative glances on the slender girl whose reddish gold curls formed a sunny aureole beneath her tight-fitting little hat.

The pavement on the opposite side of the street was in shadow.
As Gail walked along, eagerly scanning the numbers, the brakes
of a taxi screeched loudly while a woman at her elbow cried, "My,
but that was a narrow shave!"

Gail looked around and saw the frightened face of a boy, with the hand of the man who had pulled him back from certain death still clutching his shoulder.

The sight startled her. She thought of her father and his tragic end. He had reached New York—she still had the radiogram
he had sent her as the ship approached the harbor—but as he taxied to Grand Central to catch the train for Merrywood Hall
where she was waiting for him,
there had been an accident.

Gail bit her lips. She must not think of that now, nor of the long, dreary days that followed as the awful realization came to her that she was completely alone. At last her bitter grieving was somewhat assuaged and she took up her school work again, only to learn from Lucille Travers, one of her schoolmates, that she was penniless. Gail was stunned when Lucille and her friends taunted

her about being a "charity" student. What had happened to all her father's money?

GAIL reached the tall gray building where the silk manufacturing firm occupied three floors. Her heart was beating excitedly when she stepped into the elevator. Catching sight of her reflection in a strip of mirror, she tilted her soft blue felt hat more effectively over her sunny hair.

The operator sang out,
"Twelve!" and Gail entered a magnificent reception room. For a second she wondered if she had made a mistake as her small shoes sank in the deep pile of an oriental rug. She noticed with amazement that the paneled walls were adorned with rare Chinese prints.

But as her eyes grew accustomed to the almost exotic atmosphere (softly shaded lamps lent
a dim light to the great room
from which daylight was utterly shut out) she noticed several men seated around the room. In the center was a glass-topped desk at which a dark-eyed, shrewd-looking young woman was seated.

When Gail approached, this young woman looked up, smiling.

WENDELL DILL TESTIFIED FOR MOTHER, UNCLE

Mr. Vernon O. May 20—(AP)— Wendell Dill told of his marriage to Margie Heaton Dill and entered a series of denials aimed at refuting charges in her $25,000 alienation of affection suit against his mother, Mrs. Grace Dill, and his uncle, former U. S. Sen. Clarence C. Dill.

Twenty-year-old Wendell Dill, a government employee, calmly described a revived romance, which developed into "improper relations"
and their elopement to Wheeling,
W. Va., in May 1934, a day following their graduation from Fredericktown high school.

He was the first witness offered by the defense after Judge Phillip L. Wilkins overruled its motion to dismiss former Senator Dill's connection with the suit. Counsel for the plaintiff rested yesterday.

Judge Wilkins ordered stricken
from the record, however, all statements by Mrs. Margie Dill designed to link the ex-Senator with an alleged illegal operation.

Wendell Dill denied that his mother or his uncle had anything to do with arranging the alleged operation and said he knew of no acts or statements by either which would alienate his affections from his young wife.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Barton W. Blair, Wendell Dill was asked if he loved Margie before and after their marriage. He replied "yes."

FAIR CUTS WATER RATES

Dallas, Texas—The City of Dallas
this week reduced its municipal water plant rates to aid residents in the lawn beautification program
now under way in preparation for the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition opening here June 6.

Gail Everett sketched fashions . . . dreamed of becoming a famous designer with a shop of her own.

"Good morning. What can I do for you?"

"I'd like to see Mr. Larne—Mr.
John S. Larne."

"Did you have an appointment with him?" The girl at the desk started to turn the pages of a book which lay open before her.

"He's been called out of town unexpectedly."

"Not a definite one, but he invited me to call when I arrived in New York."

The other girl looked at Gail with appraising eyes. "Perhaps there's someone else you could speak to? What did you wish to see him about?"

For a moment Gail hesitated.
Then she said, "I won his prize for costume design, and Mr. Larne wrote and promised he would help me get a start if I decided to come to New York."

"Oh, how clever of you!" the girl exclaimed, yet Gail felt a note of insincerity in her words.

She added, "I'll see what I can do for you," as she lifted the receiver from its cradle and asked for Mr. Held.

Gail watched eagerly. Surely in this magnificent office there must be someone who could help her. She glanced swiftly around the room. That must be someone connected with the firm who was talking to a young man who was closing a portfolio. Gail thought.
Then her eyes rested once more on the girl at the information desk.

PLACING the receiver in its cradle, the girl said, "I'm sorry, Mr. Held is in conference." She paused for a split second and Gail felt certain that this was not the message she had received over the phone. She quickly added,
"Perhaps it would be better if you would wait until Mr. Larne returns."

"When will that be?" There was an anxious note in Gail's voice. New York without anyone to help her . . . how would she get a start? Then she remembered her prize money. Surely $500 would last for a long time
even if she didn't get a job right away. She did not know how quickly money goes.

"Mr. Larne's in Florida. He's not expected back for a couple of weeks. But if you'll let me have your name and address, I'll give it to his secretary and she will advise you when he can see you."

"Oh, thank you," Gail answered
as the girl handed her a card.

Her amber eyes were shadowed
as she stepped into the elevator again and she walked along the entrance hall with lagging steps.

Outside the building she glanced up and down the avenue. The traffic roared past her. All around were hurrying men and women.
Everyone going somewhere,
everyone knowing exactly what he or she was going to do except Gail herself and a tattered old man leaning against the building,
glancing mutely from hungry,
hopeless eyes at the endless stream of traffic passing by.

Gail sauntered toward the curb,
still glancing about uncertainly.

Then Derek Hargreaves, his portfolio under his arm and his hat perched at its usual jaunty angle, stepped toward her.

"Pardon me," he said, removing his hat, "but didn't I see you in John Larne's office a few minutes ago?"

Cookery News Notes Compiled By Lucile Harris

By Lucile Harris
SOUPS TO TEMPT OR SATISFY YOUR APPETITE
Can you think of a more pleasant way to aid digestion than by drinking a cup of clear, hot consommé, lamb broth or bouillon? It seems impossible to find a more pleasant way to help regulate body activities. Even though these clear soups have very little actual food value, they are stimulating and delicious, so they are given a prominent place in modern menus. They are given even more attention in the reducing diet, for a person who is reducing may drink as much clear soup as he desires without any effect on his rate of reduction.

There is a slight difference between bouillon and consommé which is nice to know. Since bouillon is always served clear, it is made from lean beef with some fat, while consommé may be made from a combination of meats, fat and bone. It is more difficult to clear a soup which has been made from meat and bone than from meat alone. In the case of the consommé, it makes little difference, for this type of soup is usually served with diced vegetables.

Less Tender Meat Cuts Used
The less tender cuts of meat should be used for soup-making. They are every bit as flavorful as the more tender cuts. For the best results two-thirds of the cut should be meat and the other one-third fat and bone. If the meat is cut into small pieces, there will be a large surface exposed to the water in which the meat is cooking and more of the flavor will be extracted than if it were cooked in one large piece. Clear soups should be spiced and seasoned with discretion, for condiments are added only to enhance the flavor of the meat.

It is well to keep a tight cover on soup all during the cooking process, for if it is cooked in an open kettle a large per cent of the liquid will evaporate.

Superiority in the art of soup making has long been accorded the foreign cooks, however, even the most critical guest will find these soups superb.

Bouillon (Jellied or Hot)

3 pounds lean beef, cut into small pieces
1 small onion
1 carrot
2 sprigs parsley
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1 egg
6 tablespoons gelatin (if jellied bouillon is desired)

Salt
Put meat in cold water. Add onion, carrot, celery, and parsley and simmer 2 hours. Strain through a cheese cloth. Add salt to taste and the beaten white of an egg. Boil 5 minutes and then strain again. If jellied bouillon is desired, add gelatin which has been dissolved in cold water and pour into individual molds. This makes about 3 quarts of broth.

Scotch Soup

3 pounds neck of lamb
2 quarts cold water
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ onion
¼ cup carrot, cut in small cubes
¼ cup turnip, cut in small cubes
2 tablespoons pearl barley
Cut meat into small pieces. Add water and vegetables and let cook very slowly. Strain. Soak barley over night in cold water, drain, and cook in boiling salted water until soft. Drain and add to soup. If barley were cooked in the soup, it would absorb the meat stock. Barley may be omitted; in that case, sprinkle with finely chopped parsley and served with croutons.

Meat broth, seasoned with vegetables and herbs, form the basis of any number of soups. Onion soup au gratin is one of the French soup recipes making use of meat broth, and one that deserves to be served frequently.

Onion Soup au Gratin

6 cups meat broth
5 small onions, thinly sliced
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

6 slices toast
Salt and pepper
Cook onions in butter until soft. Add meat stock and season to taste with salt and pepper. Place a slice of toast in each soup plate, sprinkle with cheese and pour soup over it.

Beef Broth with Vegetables

3 pounds beef shin
1½ cups raw diced potatoes
2 onions, sliced
1 cup carrots, diced
½ cup carrots, ground in food chopper
2 teaspoons salt

Have meat cut in pieces, put in the soup kettle, and salt. Cover with cold water and slowly bring to a boil. Then simmer until meat is tender. Add potatoes, carrots and onions and cook until vegetables are tender. Strain and serve while hot.
